Councilwoman Lee Hosts Expungement Clinic with University of Akron School of Law

Summit County Council District 5 Representative, Tamela Lee along with The University of Akron School of Law hosted a FREE Expungement Clinic on Saturday, October 19th at St. Paul Missionary Baptist Church in East Akron.

The FREE Clinic was for constituents who've been denied employment, housing or other government benefits because of a criminal record. Those who have completed their sentence at least a year ago were encouraged to attend. A driver's license or ID card, pay stub and proof of address was required to learn more about Expungement/Sealing.

Nearly 200 people attended the event, held from 1 to 4 p.m.

Many were looking to apply for a Certificate of Qualification for Employment (CQE): In order to qualify you:

- Have to currently live in Summit County, AND
- You have been convicted of or pled guilty to a felony and it's been at least one year since you completed all of the terms of your sentence (including any probation, community supervision) & paid all of your court costs; OR
- You have been convicted of or pled guilty to a misdemeanor and it's been at least six months since you completed all of the terms of your sentence (including any probation or community supervision) & paid all of your court costs.

CQE 's are necessary to relieve a collateral sanction (penalty or disadvantage) facing ex-offenders so that they might be able to get a job or a occupational license.

A CQE cannot relieve you from:

- a requirement to register as a sex offender
- a driver's license suspension, cancellation, or revocation
- a restriction on employment as a prosecutor or law enforcement officer
- a denial, ineligibility, or suspension of a license as a health care professional if you: (1) were convicted of or pled guilty to murder, voluntary manslaughter, felonious assault, kidnapping, rape, sexual battery, gross sexual imposition, aggravated arson, aggravated robbery, aggravated burglary, or unlawful distribution of an abortion-inducing drug; (2) are addicted to or were found to be improperly distributing controlled substances; OR (3) are in default under a child support order.

In addition to Expungement and CQE help, assistance and information was also available on Clemency and the Pardon process and representatives from the Prosecutor's Child Support Enforcement Agency and the Executive's Department of Job and Family Services were on hand to answer questions.

For those who missed the October Clinic, another FREE Expungement Clinic is scheduled for Saturday, November 16th, 10 a.m. at the University of Akron School of Law, 150 University Ave. See page 2 for more details.

County Councilwoman Tamela Lee speaks with constituents waiting for help at the FREE Expungement Clinic with the University of Akron School of Law.

Council Members Ilene Shapiro, Tamela Lee and John Schmidt listen as Dr. Joann Sahl from the University of Akron School of Law explains the CQE process at the October 19th FREE Expungement Clinic at St. Paul Missionary Baptist Church.

Councilwoman Shapiro Travels to Omaha with Greater Akron Chamber for InterCity Leadership Visit

Councilwoman Ilene Shapiro was among 58 community and business leaders who traveled to Omaha, Nebraska in September for a three-day informational exchange. The trip included tours and discussions with business and community leaders there looking for best practices in Omaha that might be useful for The Greater Akron/Summit County region. Omaha is the home to five Fortune 500 companies, including Union Pacific Railroad and ConAgra Foods (with brands such as Hunt's, Pam and Orville Redenbacher's). It's also the home to famous investor and billionaire Warren Buffett of Berkshire Hathaway. Omaha and Akron are of similar size and have goals centered on economic development, an urban core and talent attraction. The Akron delegation returned from the trip with a focus on the following goals:

- * A downtown hotel.
- * Encouraging entrepreneurship and job creation.
- * Working on retaining professional talent along with development and education initiatives.
- * Finding space for innovation and workers from different industries and professions to collaborate.

"The beauty of Omaha lies in its relationships. They've built a tightly woven network intertwining business, government, education, the arts and its non-profit sectors all working in concert under a master plan that is focused, funded and sustainable. The private sector appears to be a highly active, highly engaged partner, both leading and supporting the long-range viability of their community. Greater Akron is poised to leverage existing collaborations and engage our business community in new and different ways. Successfully identifying, refining and implementing a few key strategies will enable us to create more vibrant future for ourselves," Shapiro concluded.

Akron business and community leaders tour Aksarben Village, an 80-acre development on the former site of a racetrack during the Greater Akron Chamber InterCity Leadership Visit in Omaha. The area next to the University of Nebraska Omaha has 4,000 residents, 5,000 workers, 17 restaurants and a second hotel being built. It also includes a grocery store and movie theater.

Council Members Participate In Affordable Care Act Kick-Off

On, October 1, County Council Members Tamela Lee and Sandra Kurt participated in a "Know Your Care" Press Conference at the Akron-Summit County Main Library. The event marked the beginning of the new Affordable Care Act (aka "Obamacare"). "The quality of American hospitals, doctors and research is undeniable. Health Outcomes across our entire population are something different however. Today, there are at least 43 million uninsured Americans. Estimates in Summit County put our local figure at 63,000 of our family, friends and neighbors without health insurance. Ohioans will have on average 46 different plans from which to choose and despite what you may have heard, Obamacare is not a socialized one-size fits all approach. There are different levels of coverage and these plans are all provided by private insurers," said Lee. "There are extraordinary features of Obamacare for women. Under Obamacare, women all over Ohio can use this new Health Insurance Marketplace knowing that they are participating in a system that understands their unique health concerns and doesn't treat them as second class citizens," said Kurt.

The Summit County Public Health Office will be coordinating local sites to assist with Open Enrollment for the new Health Insurance Marketplace. Individual Resources are also available 24/7 at www.healthcare.gov or by calling 1-800-318-2596.

In the Community

In August, Council Members presented a commendation in honor of the Dina Dlugoz Memorial Bridge on Highland Road in Macedonia. Ms. Dlugoz was killed in an auto accident while crossing train tracks on Highland Road in 1989 at the age of 18. The new bridge runs above the tracks, eliminating the chance of future accidents. Pictured with the entire Council is Mrs. Barbara Dlugoz, Dina's mother.

Staff Notes

Jennifer Novakovic, former Assistant to Council was promoted to Clerk of Council following the resignation of Faylin Mutch, who accepted a Senior Administrator position with the Summit County Department of Environmental Services.

Ms. Novakovic was awarded the 2013 High Point Award for Outstanding Service in the Council Office. Prior to her Council work, she had several years of experience with the County in the Clerk of Courts Office.

CONGRATS Jennifer, and GOOD LUCK Faylin!
